AVS Ranks DC's Third Best Small Tech Company

Audio Video Systems, Inc. (AVS), an audiovisual design, engineering and systems integration firm, has been named as one of the Washington DC region's top small technology companies. Ranked third in the Washington DC metro region, AVS has maintained its ranking among the top local small technology companies for the third year in a row. The announcement was published in the Washington Business Journal and will be listed in the publication's annual Book of Lists.

AVS attributes its 2008 growth to contracts in new markets, including in the healthcare field as well as regular government business, such as agency-wide classroom renovations and facility upgrades for various government agencies. AVS' ranking is based on company revenues from 2007.
